

No. 30.—MOUNT STIRLING.—KOKAR TRIBE.

FORWARDED BY THE HONORABLE ROGER T. GOLDSWORTHY, WHEN COLONIAL SECRETARY OF WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

In this vocabulary may be compared the equivalents of ghost and White man, also of fire and camp. Thirsty is translated water dead. The Australian always camps by a fire, but is often without a hut of any sort, so that it is natural for him to speak of his camp or resting-place as his fire.
